RENSHAW HANDED LIFE SENTENCE!

Neo-Nazi who plotted to kill MP Rosie Cooper must serve a minimum of 20 years behind bars

Report by Henry James

NEO-Nazi Jack Renshaw who plotted to kill West Lancs MP Rosie Cooper has been jailed for life and must serve a minimum term of 20 years.

The 23-year-old from Skelmersdale who admitted preparing an act of terror was sentenced at the Old Bailey on Friday, May 17.

In June last year, Renshaw pleaded guilty to planning to kill Ms Cooper and making threats to kill police officer Detective Constable Victoria Henderson.

After he was sentenced, Renshaw made a Nazi salute to supporters.

Renshaw had bought a 19-inch (48cm) Gladius knife to murder the MP and told members of the banned neo-Nazi group National Action about his plan during a meeting in a Warrington pub in July 2017.

But the plot was foiled by whistleblower and former National Action member, Robbie Mullen, who was secretly passing information to anti-racism charity Hope not Hate, which in turn informed police.

The Old Bailey heard a victim impact statement from Rosie Cooper in which she described the threat as "something out of a horror movie."

Det. Con. Henderson had been investigating Renshaw for grooming young boys for sex. He was given a concurrent sentence of seven years' jail for this.

Jack Renshaw.

In April last year, Renshaw was jailed for three years after he called for the genocide of Jewish people.

Then last June he was handed a 16-months jail term for grooming two underage boys online.

A jury has twice been unable to come to a verdict on charges that Renshaw was a member of National Action.

Sentencing Renshaw, Mrs Justice McGowan believed his wish was to "replicate" the murder of Batley MP Jo Cox and said: "Your perverted view of history and current politics has caused you to believe it right to demonise groups simply because they are different from you.

"This is a case in which only a sentence of life imprisonment can meet the appalling seriousness of your offending."

Following the sentencing Rosie Cooper said: "My deepest wish is that this case is the last occasion when any public servant, any politician, has their life threatened for simply doing their job.

Support

"I believe today justice has been served. Not for me personally, but for every MP and public servant, and for our democratic way of life which affords us the privilege of free speech, without fear of violent retribution.

"I wish to thank Robbie Mullen whose bravery saved my life, the parliamentary authorities including the Parliamentary Liaison and Investigation Team, the police - Lancashire and Merseyside Forces and the North West Counter Terrorism unit - for keeping me safe.

"Thanks also to my family, friends and constituents for all their kindness, hard work and support over the last two years.

"Now the case has ended, I will not be making any further comment. I look forward to focusing solely on my work on behalf of the people of West Lancashire as their MP."

A busy and eventful year in prospect for new Mayor, Gaynar

Report by Henry James

COUNCILLOR Gaynar Owen can look forward to a busy and eventful year ahead after taking over the chains of office as the new Mayor of West Lancashire.

Cllr. Owen, who has represented Up Holland ward on the borough council since 2012, has chosen Crawford Village Hut and Play Park and Up Holland Scout Group (51st Ormskirk) as her worthy causes to support during her mayoral year.

Her Mayoress will be her friend and neighbour, Lisa Packer while Reverend Pauline Bicknell from Ormskirk Parish Church will be her chaplain.

Councillor Owen said: "I am looking forward to my mayoral year and I want to promote the borough and events taking place here.

"As Deputy Mayor for the past 12 months I have really enjoyed meeting people from all over West Lancashire and I am looking to meeting many more of you this year.

'Exciting events'

"I have also enjoyed meeting mayors from other areas and seeing people from outside West Lancashire and hopefully this will help me to continue to promote our borough and exciting events held here - including the new cinema experience at the Chapel Gallery, which I was lucky enough to attend the launch of this month."

Councillor Owen was born in Ormskirk and hers was one of the first families to live in new homes built on Lancaster Crescent when they moved to Skelmersdale during her childhood.

After attending Brookfield Primary School and Glenburn School she started work in the office and on reception at Stratford-upon-Avon Canners.

"She then had a similar role at Dewrance, a company which made pipes for the power industry, before moving into the firm's production and inventory control team.

New Mayor, Councillor Gaynar Owen.

The final 10 years of her working life were spent at Hannah Food Service, where she started in telesales before becoming off-site purchaser.

She has also served on the funding of voluntary bodies and other organisations cabinet working group and the planning committee.

The new Deputy Mayor of West Lancashire is Councillor Terry Aldridge.

Cllr. Aldridge,who represents Moorside ward has been on the council since 1990 and has served in a number of roles. His current duties include being a member of the audit and governance committee.

The Skelmersdale household waste recycling centre in Glenburn Road will continue to open seven days a week.

Town's household waste recycling centre to retain seven-day opening after county council U-turn

Report by Henry James

Authority cabinet abandons bid to move to a five-day operation after accepting site is 'significantly busier' than others earmarked for reduced openings

THE Skelmersdale household waste recycling centre is to remain open seven days a week following a U-turn by Lancashire County Council chiefs.

It had been proposed that the site on Glenburn Road should reduce its weekly openings to just five days on the basis that there is another site in West Lancashire at Burscough.

However, it has now been acknowledged that the Skelmersdale centre is "significantly busier" receiving much more waste than the other sites which were due to move to five-day opening.

All 15 of the county council's HWRCs will still be open at the busiest times, including weekends and bank holidays, but six of the quieter sites - including Burscough - will only open five days a week.

The authority's cabinet has announced that they have agreed proposals to "help balance its budget" by changing the opening times and days of recycling centres.

The opening hours of all recycling centres will be changed to 9am to 5pm all year round. Currently they are open from 8am to 7pm in summer, and 8am to 5pm during the winter. However the council has said that surveys show that visitor numbers are relatively low at either end of the day.

Skelmersdale county councillors Julie Gibson, Terry Aldridge and John Fillis had lobbied the county council against the proposals for the Glenburn Road site Skelmersdale and welcomed the U-turn.

County Councillor Fillis, Labour group deputy leader, said: "It's clearly recognised by the scientific community and supported by local people that we need to be recycling more. The Conservatives go against all this and choose to cut the opening hours of household waste recycling centres across Lancashire. This will without doubt reduce recycling and increase fly-tipping, leaving the borough councils to clear it up and local people to pay the price.

Concerns

"This has not been a saving by Lancashire but passing the buck to others to pick up the bill. People are paying more for less services under this Conservative administration - 10% more in Lancashire in the last two years.

"We would like to thank all those people in Skelmersdale who supported us in responding to the consultation."

The sites at Barnoldswick, Burscough, Carnforth, Clitheroe, Haslingden and Longridge will close two days during the week excluding Friday, as this is often the busiest weekday leading into the weekend.

A report to the cabinet outlined the results of public consultation on the changes to opening hours. It said responses were mixed, with support for, or indifference to, the changes being roughly equal to those that disagree with them.

Feedback received during the consultation also led to a new recommendation ensuring that all sites will open on Bank Holidays, even if a facility's normal closure day is a Monday.

The report also addressed concerns that reducing availability of the recycling centres would lead to increased fly-tipping. A council spokesman commented: "It states that most fly-tipping is carried out by unscrupulous businesses which do not want to pay for their waste to be disposed of properly. There has been no evidence of fly-tipping having increased when Lancashire recycling centres had been closed in the past as the majority of residents care for their local environment and would not risk criminal penalties for fly tipping."

The changes are due to be implemented from October 1.

Former Maharishi School pupil wins prestigious healthcare challenge prize

Eleanor's idea could be a game-changer in tackling TB threat

A FORMER pupil of The Maharishi School has won a prize in a prestigious competition for university students.

Eleanor Wilson from Up Holland joined the Maharishi, based in Lathom and Skelmersdale, in 2011 when it became a free school.

Now in her third year at Aberystwyth University, studying biochemistry, she has just won The Telegraph STEM Awards 2019 Healthcare Challenge, sponsored by pharmaceutical giant GSK (GlaxoSmithKline).

The Telegraph STEM awards give undergraduates a chance to showcase their talent to major companies and organisations in various fields, by proposing solutions to challenges facing the modern world.

Eleanor's wining idea was a CRISPR-based technique to diagnose TB. CRISPR is a family of DNA sequences found within the genomes of bacteria. They are used to detect and destroy DNA from viruses during secondary infections.

Although it is thought that vaccination has more or less eradicated TB, particularly in developed countries like the UK, in 2017 it was the biggest killer infection globally. And records show that well over half-a-million people had developed a strain of TB which was resistant to the best first-line drug treatments.

More than 95% of TB cases occur in developing countries, with some groups 30 times more likely to get the disease.

Eleanor's creative solution involves harnessing gene-editing technology for diagnosing the disease, which goes beyond the existing interest in disease treatment.

She said: "I think gene-editing CRISPR has huge diagnostic potential and will be better than the current method of looking at symptoms for diagnosis."

Eleanor's idea is believed to be a potential 'game-charger' in tackling the infection by offering more accurate diagnoses for some groups, including HIV positive patients with TB, as well as identifying drug-resistant strains of the disease.

Her parents and staff at Maharishi School are "enormously proud of her fantastic achievement" and are sure she will go on to even greater things once she has graduated.

A spokesperson for the school said: "The world can only benefit from such intelligent young people applying themselves to the issues facing the world."

Toasting a weekend of fun in the sun . . . a flashback to Skem Fest 2018.

Skemfest is back with a two-day feast of fun and music in aid of charity

THE popular Skemfest Music and Fun Festival is returning this Bank Holiday weekend (Saturday and Sunday, May 25 and 26)at The Buffs Community Club in Ormskirk Road, Skelmersdale.

The outdoor music festival returned to the town in 2016 after a break of almost a decade.

Money raised will go to Quarry Bank Community Gardens who do charitable work for the community, including the NHS and mental health organisations; and to Cancer Research.

Bands appearing on the Saturday are Big Bambora, The Lilacs, Skinners Lane, Springbar, Serpico, Polar Tide, Crimson Image, Titors Insignia, Dirty Circus, Ghengis Grimes, Big Ferrigno, Dylan Cassin, James Jackson and Lee Ellis.

And on Sunday, May 26 people will be able to see Del Mundo, The Unspecials, Hyena, Decree Absolute, Fizz, Round The Bend, Andy Stonier, Danny Fallows, Leah Wallis and Matt Swift.

There will also be a Sunday After Party upstairs from 9pm featuring Alex McCoy.

Glenburn 3G pitch goalposts and fencing moved to primary school

"It's going to take time and a lot of help to get everything together but work will be starting shortly on getting the pitch ready for the new season.

"Once the pitch is prepared we will be looking at designing and building new dressing rooms and refreshment facilities.

"Finally we will look to create a mini soccer 3G pitch for the schools and community to use."

The pitch at Glenburn, which is a taxpayer funded facility which cost £650,000 when originally built, has been left unused since Glenburn Sports College closed in 2016.

Skelmersdale North Councillor Neil Furey is pleased that the goalposts and fencing are being put to use but is annoyed the Glenburn facility will now probably be lost.

He commented: "For the last few years Lancashire County Council has argued they cannot fund this pitch or assist with it being transferred elsewhere. In the last two years the Conservative-controlled county council has increased council tax on every home in Skelmersdale by an inflation-busting 10%, yet they cannot find a penny to save this valuable facility but they can find the money to tear it down.

"I will be writing to Councillor Geoff Driver, leader of Lancashire County Council to express my utter disgust and anger at the permanent loss of this facility."

Cllr. Driver responded: "I'm really disappointed that Councillor Furey has decided to make such wildly inaccurate comments before ascertaining the facts. The history of Glenburn and the persistent vandalism on the site is well known and cabinet resolved last week to engage in a feasibility study with Network Rail to construct a station and rail link to Liverpool/Ormskirk on the site. That proposal has all-party support.

"On the question of the fencing and goalposts, we have given them to Digmoor FC so that they will continue to be available for use by the wider community."

Circumstances around Edge Hill student's death will never be known, inquest is told

Report by Kenny Parker

AN inquest into the death of Edge Hill student Adam Seaton has heard how police concluded he died from drowning but his family will never know whether he intended to take his own life or whether it was a tragic accident

Georgraphy student Adam from Southport, was the subject of a high-profile missing persons appeal following his disappearance on August 9 of last year up until his body was found at the Ribble Estuary on January 18.

His red Ford Fiesta was found parked at the RSPB reserve at Marshside, Southport.

At Sefton Coroner's Court on Friday May 17, Coroner Johanna Thompson recorded an open verdict of unascertained death. It was heard that the 19-year-old's remains had been found on mud flats and sand banks at Old Hollow Lane, Banks, by a PhD student researching bird numbers at the nature reserve.

A subsequent examination by a Home Office pathologist at Royal Liverpool Hospital established that it was the body of the missing student. The pathologist said there was evidence that the remains had been immersed in water at some stage and gave the cause of death as unascertained.

Adam Seaton.

A report by Detective Inspector Jackie Guiness of Merseyside Police provided to the inquest stated: "As officer in this case, I would conclude and hold the view that Adam, in the absence of any further information or evidence, succumbed to the sea and drowned."

Saying "this is obviously not conclusive", she added: "Whether he intended to take his own life or this was a tragic accident, we will never know."

Coroner Johanna Thompson said: "When answering how Adam came by his death the record will confirm that Adam was found deceased on the Ribble Estuary at Old Hollow Lane, Banks on 18 January 2019 in circumstances which remain unknown but in which no suspicious circumstances have been determined.

"In view of that, my conclusion to Adam Seaton's death can only be one of unascertained death."

Before concluding the hearing Coroner Mrs Thompson offered her "sincere condolences" to Adam's family and friends.

Adam's family declined to speak to the media following the coroner's inquest.

However, at the time of his funeral, at Emmanuel Parish Church, Southport, on Wednesday, February 20, they described him as the "much-loved son of Karen and Andy, special brother to Helen, loving grandson of Alan and the late Pauline Carter and John Seaton and Aideen Seaton. Adam will be greatly missed by all his family, friends and colleagues."

It was thought Adam was at the Ribble Estuary site preparing to undertake some fieldwork for his geography course.

Move to commission outline business plan a 'huge step forward' for town's rail station says county councillor

Report by Henry James

THE decision by Lancashire County Council's cabinet to commission a strategic outline business case for the further development of a Skelmersdale rail link has been welcomed by local county councillor John Fillis "as a huge step forward".

This is the latest stage of the detailed process needed to bring a new railway line and station to the town.

The business case will provide a detailed evaluation of the proposed scheme, looking at the viability of the proposals, cost estimates and possible timescales.

The county council is working with Network Rail and Merseytravel on the plans, which include changes on the road network that would be needed to accommodate a new line and station.

Once the strategic outline business case has been prepared, the cabinet will be asked for a decision on the next stages for this project.

Skelmersdale East County Councillor Fillis said: "This is a huge step forward that has received cross-party support, which we have worked so hard to gain and is so vital to the development to this project.

"This clearly recognises Skelmersdale as a future development hub in the North West between Liverpool and Manchester. The people of Skelmersdale have been fantastic in their support and determination to see this train station delivered, which has attracted support from right across Lancashire and the North West Region."

County Councillor John Fillis

Cllr. Fillis, deputy leader of the Labour group on the county council, said the strategic outline business case will confirm whether or not the project is affordable, value for money and whether to proceed to detailed design and implementation. It will be submitted to The Department for Transport and Transport for the North for consideration in future statutory advice to the Secretary of State with regard to the Rail Network Enhancements Pipeline.

The West Lancashire Highways and Transport Masterplan, adopted by Lancashire County Council in October 2014, proposed at its heart a new rail link and town centre railway station in Skelmersdale, fully integrated with the bus network and easily accessible on foot or by cycle, and with sufficient car parking provision to function as a 'parkway' station for the wider West Lancashire area.

In June 2015 it was agreed to move to the next phase of the development process by initiating a GRIP Stage 3A (Guide to Rail Investment Process).

Assessed

In July 2016 Network Rail were commissioned to undertake a comparative assessment of potential station locations to enable a decision to be made on the preferred location, with the Glenburn site being the preferred option.

In March 2017, having assessed the technical feasibility of constructing a rail link between the Wigan to Kirkby line and Skelmersdale, Network Rail were commissioned to undertake the GRIP2 refresh and 3A feasibility study by the county council and Merseytravel on a shared cost basis, with the county council contributing 85%.

The cost of the GRIP 2 refresh and the GRIP 3A stage was estimated by Network Rail to be £5.1m with the costs spread over the 2017/18 and 2018/19 financial years.

Cllr. Fillis, concluded: "We still have work to do and a lot of people to convince in London. But working together we have managed to build a broad support base, meet all the challenges and get a GRIP on Skelmersdale train station."

Community payback team gives street a welcome makeover

A SMALL residential area in Old Skelmersdale has been given a welcome spruce-up - courtesy of the Probation Service's Community Payback Team.

Durham Street, a small, pedestrianised row of terraced houses has a flower bed that runs the length of the street which for many years has been tended by resident volunteers.

However, as the volunteers have dwindled in numbers and increased in age the task has become more of a challenge, prompting local Skelmersdale South ward borough councillors, Donna West, Vickie Cummins and Nicola Pryce Roberts to come up with an idea.

The trio contacted the Probation Service and arranged for a team from the Community Payback Service to restore the flower bed to a more manageable state.

Cllr. Roberts said "Councillor Cummins and I visited Durham Street while the work was happening.

"We were really pleased that the Community Payback Service agreed to get involved with this project and the results of their hard work are clearly visible.

"Residents have told us that they think the team has done a fantastic job and had worked hard all day to clear the overgrown flower bed.

"We'd like to thank them for the difference they have made.

"It really is win-win for the community and hopefully the residents will now be able to maintain the flower bed through the summer months as all the heavy work has been done."

Safety concerns over 'mystery' fence

A MYSTERIOUS fence which has been put up between the Cascade estate and Daniels Lane in Digmoor has prompted safety concerns among residents.

The fence (above) appeared on a public path on Sunday morning. Alan Gunnigle who lives nearby told the Champion: "I can't believe someone has done this. A cyclist could come down the path, not see the fence and hit it. And mothers with prams are having to walk on the road because they can't access this path."

Concourse takes shoppers back to the 70s for 'Love Your Local Market' campaign

VISITORS to the Concourse at the weekend enjoyed a trip back in time to the decade when the centre was officially opened, back in September 1973, with a free 70s event in the Market Hall.

To kick-start their participation in the national 'Love Your Local Market' campaign the Concourse invited customers to 'party like it was 1973'!

There was free face painting and glitter bar, retro games and some old Concourse photos to reminisce about upon. And there were a host of photo opportunities, with photo props and backdrop including Ludwig, the Concourse's nostalgic mascot caterpillar, found hibernating in the archives and a 1970s stiltwalker to entertain the crowds.

And all the while Disco DJ Dave kept all the old 70s sounds ringing out.

Concourse retail marketing manager, Jennifer Burnett, said: "There was a great atmosphere in the Market Hall with lots of people coming down and taking part in the nostalgic free event.

"Younger customers enjoyed getting their photo with the performers, while older shoppers reminisced viewing the photos and seeing Ludwig again.

"And visitors of all ages had a go at the retro games.

Invitation

"Everyone got in to the swing of the 70s, with many people dressing up, having fun and enjoying the atmosphere in our market as we brought our community together in the heart of the town centre."

Meanwhile people who attended the event are invited to share their photos and check the Concourse Facebook page to see if they have won a hamper of goodies from the market hall traders, plus £50 vouchers to spend in the Concourse Market Hall.

The winner will be announced shortly.

The old Concourse photographs will be on display until the end of May in the Market Hall.

And this Saturday, May 25, a wider collection of photographs from the Concourse archive will be on display.

As part of the campaign, the centre is offering potential new market traders the chance to try the Concourse Market Hall completely free, until the end of May.

If you'd like to sample market life for two weeks, completely free of charge in the Concourse Market Hall, speak to Dianne Fletcher in the mrketing suite, opposite Peacocks on the first floor of the Concourse, email dfletcher@lcpproperties.co.uk or ring 01695 723785.

Council leader insists Local Plan has been scrapped not shelved

Report by Kenny Parker

THE leader of West Lancs Council has insisted that its controversial 30-year Local Plan proposals have been scrapped, despite claims by a newly-elected independent councillor that residents fear that is not the case.

Councillor Ian Rigby, who won the Bickerstaffe ward for Our West Lancashire in the recent local elections, said his victory was down to a lack of confidence that the Labour-controlled council would indeed abandon the plans which he said would "decimate large areas of Green Belt agricultural land".

However, council leader, Councillor Ian Moran said that following a full public consultation they had listened to residents' concerns and it was a matter of public record that the plan had been scrapped.

Cllr. Rigby, who polled 540 votes, more than twice the number of Labour and Conservative candidates combined, said: "The high turnout reflected the strength of feeling that was evident on the doorstep during my campaign. The anger towards the Labour proposals was tangible and there was little confidence that the promises to rescind the planned development in Bickerstaffe would be delivered."

Councillor Ian Moran.

Councillor Ian Rigby.

He added that statements by Labour representatives that housing and industrial park development for Bickerstaffe had been scrapped and that a new version of the Local Plan would now be prepared were not consistent with official statements from the council, which has agreed a short delay in the timetable for the presentation of the final version of the Local Plan until July 2019.

And he doubted that any "meaningful changes" could be accommodated in such a short timeframe.

"The threat to West Lancashire from excessive housing development therefore remains a real one and only a wholesale rethink of the proposals will suffice if residents' confidence is to be restored."

But Cllr. Moran responded: "I'd like to welcome Councillor Rigby to West Lancashire Borough Council and I am happy to clarify for him that the Local Plan proposals have already been scrapped and we are going back to the drawing board.

"As the current leader of the council, this is the official statement, which I have previously and am again going on public record with.

"Undertaking a full public consultation, as we did, and reacting by listening and taking firm action to respond to residents' concerns is our way of restoring residents' confidence."

Artz Centre plays host to hit touring production

THE Artz Centre in Birch Green Road played host to Chorley-based creative organisation, Junction 8 Theatre by staging the final performances of the company's hit touring production, Lancastrians.

The play was developed using the real words of 500 people interviewed about living in Lancashire.

Presented by just three actors, it took audiences on a whistle-stop tour of the entire county, recounting stories filled with moments of passion, comedy, resilience and grief from Blackpool to Skem and beyond.

The community-focused event also featured traditional Lancashire-themed refreshments provided by Birchwood Catering, home of the local Junk Food Cafe.

Production manager of Junction 8 Theatre, Phil Geller, commented: "It was an absolute pleasure to bring Lancastrians to the Artz Centre. This is a building which has embedded itself in its local community, promoting the arts in a huge way; engaging a huge number of young people through incredible theatre projects."

During the company's time at the Artz Centre, Junction 8's artistic director, Liz Stevenson, facilitated a free-of-charge and one-of-a-kind professional acting workshop to 26 Artz Centre students focusing on the acting skills which she had explored with her cast of actors in the Lancastrians production.

Liz Stevenson (centre) and members of Lancastrians cast with Artz Centre students and staff during the workshop.

The young people were also able to partake in a question-and-answer session with the play's creative team and cast giving them a greater insight into the world of professional touring theatre.

Claire McEvoy, of the Artz Centre Team, commented: "This overall collaboration with Junction 8 Theatre has been a brilliant opportunity for the town, our local community, the Artz Centre and our students. High-quality, professionally-produced touring theatre does not usually 'stop off' in Skem, never mind theatre that celebrates the communities and county in which we all live and work.

"Liz and her team have been a creative inspiration to our local people, the Artz Team and our Artz students, and we look forward to hopefully working with Junction 8 again soon."

Appeal for information after car targeted in suspected arson attack

POLICE are appealing for information following a suspected arson attack in Skelmersdale.

Officers were called at 12.04am on Tuesday, May 14 to reports that a car had been set on fire outside a residential garage on Ormskirk Road.

It is believed the car window was smashed and accelerant used to set the vehicle alight.

A person wearing dark clothing was seen to run from the scene.

Lancashire Fire and Rescue Service extinguished the fire and nobody was harmed.

Detective Sergeant Diane Higham said: "It is only by luck that somebody noticed the car was on fire and that it was put out before it caused too much damage or harm to people nearby.

"We are looking to find who is responsible for this crime and are asking to speak to anyone who saw anything suspicious in the area around the time to come forward."

Anyone with information is asked to call 101 quoting log number 0004 of 14th May. Alternatively they can contact independent charity Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

Approval recommended for plan to build 65 homes on former pub and factory site

COUNCIL officers are recommending that proposals to build 65 homes on the site of a former pub and factory at the junction of Railway Road and Ormskirk Road in Skelmersdale be approved.

Councillors are expected to make a decision on the outline application at a meeting of West Lancs Council's planning committee tonight (Wednesday, May 22).

The main part of the site comprises hard standing and remnant walls and buildings from the cotton mill and factory and training centre that used to be there.

Ian & Jeff Hill Partnership brought the site in 2012 and used it for indoor and outdoor storage and distribution space for motor vehicles and spare parts linked to their salvage and recycling business based at East Gillibrands Industrial Estate.

The application also includes the Railway Tavern public house, which closed in late 2014 due to "declining trade and increasing overheads, such that it could no longer operate as a viable business."

The design and access statement for the plan states: "The new development will create opportunities for young families to move into the area and all potential new residents will introduce additional expenditure into the local area thereby supporting the local shops and amenities.

"The increase of council tax funding and the boost in population will help to support the continued sustainability of the local area."

Thirteen of the proposed homes would be designated 'affordable'.

In the report for the planning meeting, the head of development management at the borough council, John Harrison, considering the impact of the proposals on residential amenity believes that properties to the east side and north-east of the development could be affected by road traffic noise.

He also points out that there is noise associated with the JMO Sports Park adjacent to the site asks for the submission of a noise assessment.

Mr Harrison commented: "I am satisfied that given the size of the site it would be able to accommodate a residential development which provides an adequate standard of amenity to both existing and future residents."

However there is potential for bat roosts on the site and the council has said it "must determine if roosting bats will be affected prior to determination of the application."

Officers are recommending that the applicants sign a section 106 legal agreement before planning permission is granted.

Veterans take memorabilia display to care home

MEMBERS of the Skelmersdale Veterans' Association enjoyed a visit to the Parklands Lodge care home in Southport.

Chairman Alan Lewis was joined by vice-chairman Jimmy Mathew, armed forces champion Tommy Creevy, Tommy Hart and Scottish piper Bob Wilson for the visit which he said was a great success.

Mr Lewis said: "We had a great visit to Parklands with residents and staff enjoying looking at the memorabilia which has been donated to us. We were also in re-enactment uniforms.

"Our visits to schools and care homes offer a direct and memorable experience of history and culture, which is tailored to each group's specific curriculum or interests.

"Each visit is led by one of our expert guides, many of whom are ex-service men and women specially trained to guide, communicate and work with schools and young people and adults in care homes.

"Our aim is that students understand the visit not as monuments to people of the past, but as living memories to help us understand and reflect on the present."

Meanwhile the veterans are arranging a Dementia Friends training day after their meeting at the Buffs on Sunday, June 9 from 3 to 4pm. This will be run by local Dementia Champion Joe Sherville and anyone interested in attending should contact Alan Lewis on 07939 660048.

The veterans have also been fundraising at the town's Asda store where they enjoyed the chance to meet residents, both young and old.

Mr Lewis added: "We would like to thank all the members of the public and young people who gave so generously. We also want to thank the residents who attended the weekend.

"We are grateful as well to Asda community engagement co-ordinator Amanda Roberts and the staff who supported us over the weekend."

Midstream students' boost for charities

STUDENTS at Midstream (West Lancs') Pathways to Adulthood programme in Skelmersdale have been busy serving up tasty treats as part of their work experience - and raising money in the process!

Every Tuesday morning the students from the facility in Penrose Place, West Pimbo, take freshly- baked cakes to sell at St James' Primary School in Skelmersdale and St James' Church where the local ladies' Tai Chi group meet after their session.

All proceeds from the sales were recently donated to charity when a grand total of £1,174.41 was given to Wigan and Lancashire Macmillan Cancer Support and the Alzheimers Society.

The students were pleased to receive letters of thanks from both charities.

Pathways teacher, Nic Dilworth, said: "The students are always eager to attend and have risen to all the challenges they have faced in learning new tasks in the hospitality field and life skills.

"It's been nice to see the relationships develop between our students and the Tai Chi ladies, as well as knowing we are putting a smile on the faces of St James' hungry school staff!"

Watchdogs report big improvement in force's recording of crimes

GOVERNMENT watchdogs say Lancashire Constabulary has made notable improvements to the way it records crimes after the force received a 'good' rating following an inspection by Her Majesty's Inspectorate of Constabulary and Fire & Rescue Services (HMICFRS).

However, inspectors said more work still needed to be done, including in the recording of rape reports and crime associated with domestic abuse.

An inspection in 2017 had found that the way the force recorded crime was inadequate and had left more than 20,000 victims of crime without the appropriate access to support.

But in a re-inspection report, published on Thursday, May 16 the inspectors found the force had "significantly improved" its crime-recording arrangements and was now rated as 'good'.

In particular, they reported that found Lancashire Police has:

- Improved overall crime recording.
- Substantially improved recording standards for violent crime.
- Maintained a good level of recording accuracy for reported sexual offences.
- Developed and implemented a crime data integrity (CDI) action plan to address recommendations and areas for improvement and drive systemic cultural change.
- Appointed an operational strategic lead responsible for improving crime recording.
- Invested in additional resources to scrutinise and improve crime-recording decision making and data quality.

Deputy Chief Constable of Lancashire Sunita Gamblin.

They also recognised a force-wide internal campaign, Record for Victims (R4V) which aims to make sure officers and staff make correct crime-recording decisions, to help victims and make sure they get the support they deserve.

The inspectors examined crime reports from August 1, 2018 to October 31, 2018 and found the force now records 93.3 percent compared with the 2017 inspection finding of 84.3 percent - the best improvement of any force in the country.

Deputy Chief Constable Sunita Gamblin said: "I'm really pleased with the findings of the report which recognises the huge amount of hard work our officers and staff have done to improve what we do to record crimes and by doing so support victims, one of the most important things we do as a police force.

"After the 2017 inspection, we knew that we were not providing the service for victims that the people of Lancashire deserve. Since then the Constabulary has focussed more than ever on the importance of crime recording from a victim's perspective. Getting crime recording right builds trust and confidence across the communities that we look after."

The inspectors did find a few areas where the force still has more work to do, including ensuring it records all reports of rape; crimes associated with domestic abuse and crimes committed against vulnerable people which third-party professionals report. But HMICFRS said they were confident the force will achieve further progress in these areas.

Random acts of kindness help improve health and wellbeing

A NOVEL method to improve wellbeing in West Lancashire has been launched which involves people finding gifts hidden in Burscough and Rufford.

Find Wellbeing, a non-profit community initiative set up Rufford resident Adele Draper, 39, aims to promote comfort, health and happiness through random acts of kindness.

Every week from Monday May 20, Find Wellbeing plans to hide a gold envelope in Burscough and Rufford area with containing a gift donated by a local business or charity which will promote wellbeing.

Adele Draper.

For example gifts include a free yoga course, "Taking time for yourself, to reset and focus" or a free family pass to Martin Mere, "Embracing calm and peace within a wildlife setting."

Adele, a sixth form psychololgy teacher, says: "Find Wellbeing is about inspiring others to find comfort, health and happiness. Through random acts of kindness - we aim to give people a helping hand in experiencing this for themselves."

Cricket club gears up for another classic motors extravaganza

OFFICIALS of Mawdesley Cricket Club are gearing up for its fourth annual Classic Car and Motor Bike Show to be held on the club fields in School Lane on Bank Holiday Monday, May 27.

And hopes are high for another successful day following last year's show which featured more than 200 classic cars and motorcycles and attracted in excess of 800 visitors.

Owners of classic cars of all ages are invited to take part - from veteran and vintage, up to and including modern marvels, replicas, supercars and kit cars.

The event will start in the morning for those who wish to participate with a 20-mile drive, taking about one hour, through the local countryside and surrounding villages, visiting places of local interest.

Vehicles taking part in the run are asked to register with the marshals at the cricket ground between 9 and 10am to receive their directions. There will be a £12 charge for those wishing to enter the run to cover the costs of providing rally plaques.

Meanwhile exhibitors are asked to arrive any time from 9am and those wishing to enter the 'show' competition will need to register in the pavilion by 11am.

The car categories this year will be pre-1950; 50s & 60s; 70 & 80s; and 90s and later; plus a separate category for classic motorcycles.

This Ford Mustang was one of the many vehicles at last year's Mawdesley Cricket Club Classic Car & Motor Bike Show.

Judging will take place from noon onwards and winners and runners-up will be announced from 2pm.

Class winners will be invited to park at the front of the show marquee in order for visitors to vote for the people's choice 'Best in Show' award.

This year there will also be a trophy awarded to the judges' choice of 'Best in Show'

Entertainment during the day includes music, a flying display of model aircraft by the Mere Sands Model Club, a Formula One simulator, and a children's remote control car race track.

Food and drink will also be available.

The car show is free to enter for exhibitors but space is limited and places can only be guaranteed to the first 200 cars that arrive on the day.

Visitors to the event will be charged £5 for adults and £3 concessions (students and OAPs). Under-16s also pay £3 unless accompanied by an adult when entry is free. Anyone arriving by classic car or motorbike, will also be given free entry.

Car parking on the show field will be restricted to classic cars and bikes and exhibitor and volunteer pass holders only, plus blue badge holders.

A free vintage bus will be on hand to ferry visitors from the well-signposted, free, off-site parking areas to and from the show ground.

Primary pupils visit hospital to see their 'superheroes' at work

A GROUP of primary school pupils were given the opportunity to 'play' doctors and nurses in the real thing when they paid a visit to the children's department at Ormskirk Hospital.

The Year 2 children from Ormskirk West End Primary went along to the hospital in Wigan Road where play specialists led them in role-play within a specially-created wooden 'hospital'.

The youngsters had been learning about how medicine was practiced in the past and wanted to learn more about how a modern hospital runs and what the nurses and doctors do every day.

Having reportedly already made up their minds that nurses are 'superheroes' the pupils took part in the role-play enthusiastically, listening to each other's hearts and checking temperatures and blood pressure.

Helpful

Class teacher, Sarah Currie, said: "The children learned so much and really enjoyed visiting the hospital. The trip has sparked a lot of conversation and the children noticed things they hadn't talked about in class."

Jacci Bullen, hospital play specialist at Ormskirk Hospital children's department, added: "We had a great time with Year Two.

"It's really helpful for children to visit our department at times when they are well and happy, as it lessens any anxiety they might feel if they ever need treatment.

"And we hope some of this group will go on to become the next generation of NHS 'superheroes' in the years to come!"

The battle against 'dangerous' parking was lost a long time ago

YOUR article regarding 'dangerous' parking ' (Champion, May 15) really did make me smile.

While I don't condone the actions of drivers featured in the article, what can be seen in Altys Lane - dangerous or inconsiderate parking and pavement violation by obstruction - can be seen all over Ormskirk (and elsewhere) on any day of the week.

My smile came because, only this morning did I see a police car parked outside the Town Green railway/police station on a bend, on yellow lines, at a bus stop and with a substantial amount of its nearside on the pavement!

Now, those errant drivers parking in Altys Lane are clearly creating a road safety hazard but I would urge the council and Ms. Cooper to consider that perhaps they may not have had the vast sums of taxpayers' money spent on them to bring their driving skills up to the standard required to be a police driver.

Sadly, what you see in Altys Lane (and outside Town Green station) is just symptomatic of a general lowering of driving standards, where pavement-parking is now just an automatic reaction.

A perfect example of this is the lay-by outside the Royal Oak public house. Even within the lay-by some drivers still need to position some part of their vehicle on the pavement!

Sadly, I think this is a battle we lost a long tme ago.

Dispirited, Ormskirk.

Council needs to take measures to stop travellers accessing our green areas

WHY is it that month after month we get areas of our green land continuously invaded by the travelling community?

The Beacon, the green off Windmill Road and many more - like a travelling game of musical chairs.

Whenever the show rolls into town we have break-ins.

Why has the council not spent time and money on preventing the travellers from accessing these green areas?

Long-term this must be cheaper than constantly filing court claims to move them on from a place 200 yards from the last campsite.

Mounding turf around the perimeter of the fields maintains the green look yet prevents the access of a vehicle being towed as it grounds them.

A bit of joined-up thinking by the local council to prevent the cycle would be greatly received by the tax-paying, hard-working locals.

Disgruntled Neighbourhood Watch member,
Up Holland.

Time to send them the clean-up bill!

ONCE again travellers have left their mark on our beautiful countryside by leaving their waste strewn around the upper part of Beacon Park.

Their right to travel is their right to destroy and ruin the surrounding area. They take no pride in anything but their own way of living and have no respect for others.

Some of these so-called travellers live locally and I think it's about time our local council sent them the bill for the clean-up. No other person would get away with this and rightfully so.

Skelmersdale people, don't let this kind of thing continue around our town and countryside. Petition the council to stand up to these people with greater powers to protect our environment.

M. L., by email.

Outreach Project promotion was boosted by article in the Champ

IN your March 19 edition of the Champion you featured an item from our organisation promoting a 12-week Outreach Project in the Northern Parishes.

We cannot thank you enough for placing the article on the front page of the Ormskirk edition as the client numbers who cited the article when asked 'where did you find out about this outreach project' was more than 50% of those attending.

Nearly all of these clients would have struggled to find the right help and advice without this project happening. Also, we have made partnerships with a number of organisations in Burscough in particular as well as across the Northern Parishes.

We also have qualitative and quantitative data we can now share with the borough council, local CCG and West Lancs CVS.

It will also help us when applying for further funding, but the most important outcome was being able to provide a much-needed advice service to people who really needed it.

Thanks again.

Paul McConnell, chair, South West Lancashire Independent Community Advice Network.

Plans for offices on former garden centre site

A COMPANY formerly based in Tarleton could soon be moving back to its roots as an application to build it new offices on the former Dunscar Home & Garden Centre have been recommended for approval

Planners at West Lancs Council are to consider an application to redevelop the site on Southport New Road into two office buildings to accommodate Barron Wood Distribution Ltd, an office-based haulage and logistic specialist that was originally located in Tarleton, before outgrowing its premises and moving to Much Hoole in 2010.

The company has continued to expand, however, growing from employing 40 staff to approximately 200, and having extended its current building three times has now reached the capacity of the site

A report to the planning committee by director of development and regeneration John Harrison recommends that it approves the plans when it meets tonight (Wednesday).

The start of last year's Rainbow House fundraising ramble.

Rainbow House ramble back with new challenge

THE annual Rainbow House ramble returns for an 11th year on Saturday, June 15 - with a new 'Superhero challenge' specifically for the charity's young charges.

Starting at 10am from Bishop Rawstorne High School in Croston, participants in the fundraising event for the Mawdesley-based organisation which provides support and conductive education for children and young people with neurological conditions, can choose a five-mile course or a more challenging 11-mile route taking them through Croston, Mawdesley and Eccleston.

Fancy dress is encouraged and various costumes from butterflies and bumble bees to rainbows and jesters are likely to feature. Meanwhile the more energetic participants can run rather than ramble and families are welcome to take their dogs along.

New to this year is the 'Superhero challenge' for the last mile of the walk. This is designed for children from Rainbow House who are not able to walk along the ramble and who will be undertaking their own personal challenge.

A spokesperson for Rainbow House said this could mean, for example, a child who is only able to walk six steps will try to walk 12 steps. It is expected that participants in the ramble will be there to encourage the young 'superheroes' in their efforts.

Also on the day will be live music from the Southport Group of Rock Choir; staff from Nordico Lounge in Ormskirk will provide face painting and refreshments will be available.

Many of the families with children and young people who attend Rainbow House will be taking part or helping at the event, including Jonathan Knowles who will be DJ for the day.

Jonathan has cerebral palsy and has been attending conductive education sessions at the centre for more than 10 years which he says has changed his life.

Advance registration fee for the event is £15 for adults (£20 on the day) and £5 for children under 16 (£10 on the day). Youngsters in push chairs and wheelchairs go free.

All participants are encouraged to raise sponsorship and receive a pack including a T-shirt, sponsorship forms and training tips.

To enter phone 01704 823276 or go visit www.thelegacy-rainbowhouse.com or email fundraising@thelegacy-rainbowhouse.com

To sponsor any of the participants call Rainbow House on 01704 823276 or email fundraising@thelegacy-rainbowhouse.com.

Special celebrations to recognise hospital staff's commitment

STAFF at Southport and Ormskirk Hospitals NHS Trust have been celebrating three special days this month with International Midwives Day, (May 5), International Nurses Day (May 12) and National Operating Department Practitioners Day (May 14).

Events were held at both hospitals to thank all staff for the incredible amount of dedication, commitment, empathy and professionalism that goes into each and every day.

Staff were able to drop into small parties to pick up lunch and a thank-you cup cake, and enjoy music from he hospital radio station, Radio Heartbeat.

Raffle prize donations, courtesy of Southport Pleasureland, helped to raise funds for the hospital charity to enable the celebratory thank-you events to be held.

Director of nursing, midwifery and therapies at the trust, Juliette Cosgrove, said: "Nurses, midwives and operating department practitioners are part of the lifeblood of our trust and this is the perfect time of year to thank them all for their work.

"However, we strongly believe that all staff play an equal role here, so whether they are fixing broken bones or a burst pipe, we want to say a huge thank-you to everyone.

"Happy nurses, midwives and ODPs day to everyone, you are all amazing and we are so proud of the work done here every day."

Staff from all departments of the Southport and Ormskirk Hospitals NHS Trust joined in the celebrations.

Village Scarecrow Festival and Funday returns in July

THE Burscough Scarecrow Festival and Funday is set to return later this summer.

Residents are being asked to have their scarecrows in place by Friday, July 5 ahead of the festival to be held on the weekend of Saturday and Sunday, July 6 and 7.

On the Saturday, Lesley and Dorothy will be opening up Burscough Methodist Church offering refreshments and cakes, as well as an "amazing" scarecrow exhibition.

The Mayor of West Lancashire will help to judge entries, along with one of last year's winners.

Entrance fee to the Scarecrow Festival is £5 per house and £10 for a business and all the money raised will go back into the Burscough community.

One of the organisers, Julie Woods, said: "We had 144 scarecrows enter last year and we are hoping this year's festival will be bigger and better."

The seventh Annual Fun Day will then take place at Burscough Cricket Club on Sunday, July 7 and is being opened by the Merseybeats.

During the day, there will be traditional hook-a-duck stalls and coconut shies and A&C Music Academy will be appearing between 2 and 5pm.

Residents will also be able to enter their cakes into the Great Burscough Bake off and there will also be a Scruffy Dog Show and chance to see Burscough resident and singer Sam Simpson.

Anyone wishing to have a stall, priced £15, or requiring further details about the events can contact Julie Woods on 07305214059 or Rachel on 07824 878979.

Ninth Heritage Weekend to retain 1940s theme

THE Burscough Heritage Group is gearing up for its ninth Burscough Heritage Weekend which once again will have a 1940s theme

The annual nostalgia event, which has received sponsorship from Burscough Parish Council and Burscough Wharf, will take place at the wharf over the weekend of Saturday and Sunday, June 22 and 23.

Visitors are again being encouraged to dress up in 1940s garb to add to the occasion and singer Jane Francis - 'The Lancashire Belle' - will be providing the music and songs as the background for some nostalgic 'swing and hop' dancing!

And returning again on the Sunday will be the ever-popular raft race along the Leeds and Liverpool Canal.

This sees local teams aiming to make a splash and create a colourful spectacle with their self-designed and built vessels.

Anyone requiring more information about the Heritage Weekend is advised to visit the Burscough Heritage Group or Burscough Wharf Facebook pages or by calling Colin Wareing on 07931 356204.

For raft race entries call 01695 576844.

Gallery exhibition will explore the brain's creative processes

A NEW exhibition exploring how creativity works in the brain has opened at the Chapel Gallery.

Super Brain, which runs at the venue in St Helens Road, Ormskirk until July 6, explores the creative process adopted by 18 North West-based artists and a selected group of young people.

The work expands on current research by neuroscientists on how creativity happens in the brain.

The featured artists and young people will show their sources of inspiration (what is called their "rich source of input"), working methods and the final refinement of their ideas.

The exhibition is produced with funding from Arts Council England, while West Lancs Council's arts development service has been working with artist and curator Jack Doyle to bring the show to life.

The 18 artists in the exhibition have studios across the North West. They were specifically selected to illustrate artists at different stages of their careers, from current students and recent graduates to established artists.

Jack Doyle is also working with young people from the Birchwood Centre in Skelmersdale who are creating their own artwork to be exhibited in the exhibition.

And there are also opportunities for all who visit Super Brain to include their own thoughts and images in an ever-expanding neural network.

Manchester-based artist Jack, who was raised in Southport, works collaboratively with the public and schools to curate large scale art. He is a co-director of PS Mirabel, an artist-led gallery in Manchester city centre.

He said: "I have always been fascinated by how new ideas pop into your head. The current research by neuroscientists using MRI brain scans, showing how all parts of your brain are used in creativity, is particularly exciting."

John Harrison, West Lancs Council's director of development and regeneration, said: "This sounds like a really exciting exhibition, so make sure you don't miss it."

OLD BED RECYCLING SERVICE

Closing date extended for nominations for building design awards

There's still time to put forward your favourite new structure for recognition in council scheme

THERE'S still time to nominate your favourite new building for West Lancs Council's 2019 design awards.

The closing date for nominations for the awards, which aim to acknowledge and promote the importance of good quality development and building design, has been extended to 5pm on Friday, May 31.

The council says the scheme show its commitment in showcasing good design and in particular showing how well-designed buildings and places can greatly improve the local environment and contribute to a sense of place.

Judging will be in five categories as follows:

•Residential developments creating more than one new property.

•New single dwellings and extensions to existing property.

•The conversion and re-use of existing buildings.

•Commercial developments.

•Landscaping proposals.

John Harrison, West Lancs Council's director of development and regeneration.

Buildings and sites must have been completed after June 2017 to be eligible for entry. Awards will be given for designs which contribute to the overall quality of the borough and will focus on community, economic and environmental regeneration and the use of sustainable building techniques.

You can nominate online or download the forms by visiting https://www.west-lancs.gov.uk/planning/heritage-and-environment/design.aspx.

Alternatively, nomination forms are available from the customer service points in Derby Street, Ormskirk, and the Concourse, Skelmersdale, or by emailing Ian Bond, heritage and environment manager, at ian.bond@westlancs.gov.uk or calling 01695 585167.

John Harrison, the council's director of development and regeneration, said: "It is important to recognise and reward well designed new developments. I encourage people to nominate the buildings and schemes they feel enhance the area they live in.

"The award scheme highlights the council's wish to work in partnership with architects, developers, owners and other agencies involved in planning to improve our built environment and the quality of life for all the residents of West Lancashire."

Council says new home insurance scheme offers better value for tenants

Authority claims change of provider will mean lower premiums and enhanced cover

BOSSES at West Lancashire Borough Council say a scheme to provide home insurance for their tenants has just got even better.

The authority is changing providers from Monday, June 3 and the scheme will now be underwritten by Allianz Insurance plc.

And the council says that the premiums, which were "already very competitive" have been reduced significantly while the level of cover has been enhanced.

This means for a policy with a £6,000 sum insured (including accidental damage) the premium has reduced from £1.10 per week to 71p per week. while the weekly charge for £9,000 worth of cover (including accidental damage) has dropped from £1.65 to £1.06.

Jacqui Sinnott-Lacey, the council's director of housing and inclusion, says the scheme offers "great competitive rates."

There is also now a wider range of cover available (from £4,000 to £50,000) and premiums are frozen for the next five years (apart from if the Insurance Premium Tax set by the Government goes up).

Other new benefits include accidental damage now being included as standard.

And optional extensions are available for an additional premium. This includes cover for personal possessions away from home; mobility scooters/wheelchairs; cover for structures such as garages and sheds, and even hearing aid cover.

Previous advantages of the scheme are also retained, including no excess to pay on any claims; individual premiums don't go up if a claim is made against the policy; and insurance doesn't cost any more if the premiums are paid on a weekly, monthly or in a one-off annual payment.

Although the scheme is underwritten by Allianz Insurance Plc, it is managed by the council so tenants have a local point of contact at the authority for queries and claims.

Payments can be made via Allpay, by credit and debit card, or by standing order.

Protected

Tenants already signed up to the scheme will automatically be switched over to the new scheme.

Jacqui Sinnott-Lacey, the council's director of housing and inclusion, said: "We would really encourage our tenants to sign up for this scheme so that they are protected should the worst happen.

"There are also great competitive rates which are flexible to suit individual needs."

Anyone requiring more details can contact Catherine Kirwan on 01695 585047 or Rebecca Spicer on 01695 585098.

Alternatively email catherine.kirwan@westlancs.gov.uk or rebeccaspicer@westlancs.gov.uk; or go online at www.westlancs.gov.uk/insurance from June 3 to find out how to apply.

The young dancers from Halsall St Cuthbert's CE Primary.

Primary school's dance rookies strut their stuff at county finals...

DANCERS from Halsall St Cuthbert's CE Primary School beat off competition from other schools in West Lancs for a place in the county finals of a dance competition - despite having little or no experience.

The team, of 12 Year 2 girls came first in the borough stage of the Lancashire School Games Dance Festival earning the right to take part in the finals at the Charter Theatre in Preston Guild Hall.

In the finals they finished a "creditable" sixth and headteacher, Doug Scholes, said: "For such young children, some with little or no dance experience, this was a truly amazing achievement as they were competing against many, much older children."

The primary and secondary schools taking part were given the theme 'diversity' and the Halsall pupils' performance challenged the stereotypes between rich and poor.

Mr Scholes said their routine, created with the help of dance teacher Mrs Floweth, was thought-provoking and judged on its use of floor space, musicality, choreography and performance.

Mrs Floweth said: "I am extremely proud of the girls. They learned the dance in the space of a few short rehearsals and their energy, timing and dance skills were all outstanding.

"It was such a brilliant experience for them to perform in front of a big audience and in a real theatre."

A rehearsal clip of the dance can be viewed on the school's website at www.halsall.lancs.sch.uk.

Village pub to host charity fundraiser with a difference

A WEST Lancs village pub is set to host a fundraising event with a difference in aid of a dog rescue organisation based in Spain.

The event, to be held at the Eagle and Child in Maitkiln Lane, Bispham Green on Sunday, May 25, will feature a dog show with various classes and a demonstration of Flyball, a competitive 'team sport' for canines!

Proceeds of the day will be donated to the charity, Setter, Brittany, and Pointer Rescue Asturias (SeB-PRA) which aims to rescue and care for abandoned gun dogs in Spain.The charity was set up in 2013 by a Brit, Penelope Perkins and its website states: "Although adored in the UK, setters, Brittanys and pointers are thought of as mere tools by hunters in Spain and often abandoned, taken to the vets to be put to sleep, or worse.

"Unfortunately, people in Spain rarely think to take on a gun dog as a pet so many of them spend their lives in shelters. We work with several shelters to find forever homes for their dogs in the UK."

Registration will start from 10am on the day and the event will run from 11am to 4.30pm.

Classes to be judged in the show include best puppy under 12 months, junior handler, prettiest bitch, most handsome dog, best veteran over seven years of age, dog most like its owner and dog the judge would most like to take home. Other categories are best treat catcher and best party trick!

The Fylde Coasters flyball team will demonstrate the sport during lunch time with the opportunity for visitors to take part. This will see two teams of four dogs compete, using a parallel 'racing lane' down which each dog in turn runs, clearing four hurdles in succession before triggering a pedal on the Flyball box. This then releases a tennis ball which the dog must hold while returning over the hurdles to the start line.

Food and drinks will be available all day and there will also be a prize raffle.

The most advanced selfie mirror in the UK!

Pet store funds boost for animal rescue charity

A CHARITY which rescues, rehabilitates and re-homes dogs, cats and other animals is set to benefit from a year-long fundraising scheme at a West Lancs pets store.

Carla Lane Animals in Need in Melling has been named as Pets at Homes Burscough's charity of the year under the Support Adoption For Pets initiative.

From May 17 until Thursday, June 13, there will be a range of activities taking place at the store on the Ringtail Retail Park with customers and animal lovers able to interact with the rescue centre team at the store.

Customers will be encouraged to donate either at tills, or via the Support Adoption For Pets website.

A donation of 50p will fund breakfast for a rescue pet, while £1 will fund meals throughout the day. £5 will provide food for a week and £15 will fund the entire month of food for a rescue pet.

Store manager, Sarah Yould, said: "We're delighted to be raising money for Carla Lane Animals in Need this year, and hope that the people of Burscough will get involved and support us on our fundraising mission.

"Every donation will help a rescue pet in need.

The world would be a much better place with a bit more tolerance

I CERTAINLY wasn't thinking about what I would blather on about in this week's Dog until I came home on a 310 bus from Ormskirk yesterday.

I had finished reading my library book or I'd have missed what happened - and in some ways I wish I had, because it put me in a bad mood for the rest of the day.

We were approaching a bus stop when a middle-aged woman walking in the same direction looked over her shoulder and spotted the bus. She kept walking at the same speed and staring straight ahead, but simply raised her right arm imperiously - which I took to be some sort of sign that she would like the bus to stop.

And much to his credit, the driver braked so his bus was only a yard or two past the stop, opened the doors and waited for this woman to board. We waited - long enough for those who had not spotted this intending passenger to start craning their necks to see what had caused this cessation of movement.

Eventually, this person strolled up and boarded, plonked a card of some sort on the 'reader' and sauntered to a seat just across the aisle from mine.

Not a word of apology or thanks to the driver - just an autocratic stare straight ahead.

I was flabbergasted and felt strangely guilty as a fellow passenger. In fact, my first reaction was to make some sarcastic comment to this person who had just been so rude to the driver who had done his level best for her.

I didn't, because I had no wish either to cause a scene or to start a slanging match on the bus. Plus, I suppose, you could say it was probably none of my business anyway.

But what on earth does it say about us when somebody is gratuitously rude to a fellow human being who has just performed a courteous act. I reckon that had I been the driver of that bus, I might well have thought twice about stopping next time I saw someone late for my bus.

Certainly the driver had made a courteous decision - he could very well have 'not noticed' this woman and simply driven on.

And, talking of folk behaving courteously, the other day I was unusually travelling to Southport from Liverpool by train. All went well - until right at the throat of Southport station and moving very slowly it came to a rather sudden stop. And stayed stopped.

The guard however exceeded his duty by explaining to us passengers what had happened, and roughly how long we would be stuck for. In fact, the train had somehow been 'gapped' - the current-collector shoes had all gone out of contact with the third rail at the same time.

But the guard visited each of the three carriages individually and explained what the problem was (and, he said, in 15 years on the railway this had never happened to him before) and said we would have to wait 15 minutes for the next train behind to catch up, buffer up and push us, as he put it, back onto 'the juice'.

He shared a joke or two with us by now happily (and only temporally) marooned passengers and nobody thought the worse of him or Merseyrail. What you might call a really good ambassador.

Now, unlike the incident on the bus, this small contretemps in fact improved my day - which up to that point had been going none too well - no end.

After all, this guard could simply have got onto the tannoy, said Merseyrail apologised for the delay and service would be resumed as soon as possible. My fellow passengers and I would then have spent a quarter of an hour grumbling about this appalling railway.

If more people behaved like my bus driver and the train guard, and fewer like the appalling woman on the bus, the world would be a considerably better place in which to live. Unhappily it seems to me that folk generally, and unfortunately of all ages, seem to be becoming more aggressive and intolerant year by year.

ADVERTORIAL

Champion Squad Running for Deaf Active

DETERMINED members of staff from the Champion will attempt to go the extra mile for charity next month when they take part in a 10k challenge.

A team of eight runners from our newspaper have agreed to take on the Southport 10k on Sunday, June 30, when thousands of people are expected to descend on the resort for the annual event.

The Champion runners are a real mixed bag in terms of experience, with Accounts Executive Sarah Brewster (Moorside Park Run Club) being the most seasoned runner, compared to Reporter Tom Martin who had never run 10k in his life before agreeing to take part. All team members are keen to do well with some hoping to beat previous PB's!

It will be a tough training regime for the team in the coming weeks, as they try to improve their fitness levels ahead of the big day.

However, it will all be worth it as any money they raise from the run will be donated to Deaf Active, which is a cause close to the Champion's heart.

Deaf Active have campaigned tirelessly to promote inclusive youth and play services for D/deaf children and young people, CODA's (Children Of Deaf Adults), Hard of Hearing children and their hearing family members and friends.

They offer after school fitness clubs including dancercise, football and kick jutsu as well as holiday camps during school holidays

Deaf Active is a vibrant young charity working to support, promote and enhance the lives of D/deaf children and young people throughout the boroughs of Merseyside.

For more information on Deaf Active, visit the website: www.deafactive.org

The route for the Southport 10k, put on by Epic Events, is the only running event in the history of Southport to be permitted to close Lord Street to traffic and allow participants to run through the heart of the seaside resort with custom medals and t-shirts for all finishers. There will also be a half-marathon and free family mile event taking place on the day, with organisers hoping to sign up 1,000 local children to take part.

If anyone is interested in taking part in the Southport 10k, visit the website:

Folk nights hitting the right notes

FOLK music nights at Ormskirk's Chapel Gallery are hitting all the right notes with fans and the council saying some fabulous entertainers are lined up to play in its Event Space.

The Gallery folk nights feature music and food and, after the success of the opening night with Country Folk & Loc-Tup Together, the Bram Taylor Band are next to provide the entertainment tomorrow (Thursday, May 23).

The band's popular leader Bram Taylor has a wealth of experience having established a fine reputation both here and abroad, performing at folk festivals, folk clubs, arts centres and other concert venues in the UK, USA, Canada and Europe.

Then on June 20 Bob Fox, a singer who has been regarded as one of the iconic voices of British Folk music for more than 40 years takes to the stage at the Gallery.

He is known for his warm, rich voice, virtuoso guitar style and melodeon playing skills. Expect to hear songs of love, joy, work and humour as he performs material from War Horse, newly-written songs from the New Radio Ballad Series and old favourites from his many recordings.

John Harrison, director of development and regeneration, said: "It is a privilege to have these wonderful artists perform at the Chapel Gallery for music fans to enjoy."

Bob Fox

The Gallery will be open for food and drink from 6pm and music is expected to start at 7.30pm. Menus are available on the Gallery website www.chapelgallery.org.uk.

All tickets must be purchased in advance via www.chapelgallery.org.uk or from the Gallery on 01695 571328.

Tickets for the Bram Taylor Band are £10 each. For Bob Fox they are £15 each.

Classic musical being staged

BOS Musical Theatre Company has been delighting Southport audiences with quality musical theatre since 1959 at the Scala Theatre, Garrick Theatre, Southport Arts Centre and more recently Southport Little Theatre.

And it's at the Little where their fresh production of Fiddler on the Roof opens this Saturday (May 25) until June 1.

Fiddler on the Roof tells the beloved story of the small, tradition-steeped town of Anatevka, Russia, where Jews and Russians live in delicate balance.

During the course of the show, the time honoured traditions of Anatevka are both embraced and challenged by Tevye and his colourful community, as they witness his daughters, Tzeitel, Hodel and Chava grow up and fall in love in a time of extraordinary change.

Fiddler on the Roof's Broadway premiere became the longest-running Broadway musical in history, a title it maintained for almost ten years.

UK's naughtiest puppets heading to town's theatre

IT'S time for people to find out what all the fuzz is about as the UK's naughtiest puppets head to Southport Theatre for the very first time in the comedy musical Avenue Q Tuesday 13- Saturday, August 17.

Following five years in the West End, sell-out runs worldwide and smash hit tours in 2014, 2015 and 2016 (packed with mischief, bad behaviour and political incorrectness!) Tony Award-winning Musical, created by Jeff Marx and Robert Lopez, co-creator of Book of Mormon and writer of the songs for Disney's Frozen, is a tale of the loveable characters on a downtown New York street trying to make sense of life's burning issues.

Meet Princeton, a bright-eyed graduate who comes to New York City with big dreams and a tiny bank account.

Brian the out-of-work comedian and his therapist fiancée Christmas Eve; Nicky the good-hearted slacker and his closet gay Republican roommate Rod, an Internet 'sexpert' called Trekkie Monster, Lucy the Sl*t (the name says it all!) and a very cute kindergarten teacher named Kate Monster.

Featuring funny songs including The Internet is for Porn and Everyone's A Little Bit Racist, Avenue Q is a musical with a warm (and very fuzzy) heart.

A scene from Avenue Q

Avenue Q first opened Off-Broadway at the Vineyard Theatre in 2003, before transferring to Broadway later that year where it won three Tony Awards for Best Musical, Best Score and Best Book. In 2006 it transferred to the West End where it ran for five years before touring the UK. It has appeared in more than ten countries all over the world.

The cast includes Megan Armstrong, Jasmine Beel, Ellis Dackombe, Chloe Gentles, Nicholas Mclean, Robbie Noonan, Saori Oda, Cecily Redman, Lawrence Smith, Oliver Stanley and Tom Steedon.

Avenue Q is produced by Selladoor Worldwide (producers of Footloose, and Little Shop of Horrors), Showtime Theatre Productions .

Champion MOTORS

NEWS DESK · 01704 392 400
www.champnews.com

Pretty it ain't, according to our motors man, but the BMW 7-Series is a talented all-rounder

There are many exceptionally talented all-rounders - but they're too 'everyday' for me!

I'M GOING to stick my neck out and say it; I reckon that the 7-Series is the only truly cool car in BMW's current range.

There are plenty of exceptionally talented all-rounders – take a bow, current 5-Series – donning the blue-and-white propeller atop their bonnets but nowadays they're a bit too everyday, especially when you consider that the 3-Series outsells the Ford Mondeo.

The M2 is a properly focused performance hero of the old school, but it's also a bit obvious, and while the i8 comes close because it's a hybrid that just happens to be a supercar with butterfly doors, it's also a bit too look-at-me to be considered cool.

Oh, and there are plenty of BMWs that don't even come close.

Who, at a company that's built its entire reputation on perfectly balanced rear-drivers, thought that the 2-Series Active Tourer was a good idea?

But wafting about in a needlessly big, £70,000 BMW, especially when the 5-Series and the X5 off-roader already do everything it can for less, takes a particularly devoted sort of owner.

To drive a 7-Series – and you invariably will, because owners tend to take the wheel rather than being chauffeured – you have to walk past the S-Class in the Mercedes showroom over the road, forget the roomier digs of the Range Rover and dismiss everything made by Jaguar, Lexus and Audi for this sort of money.

It's also the getaway car of choice in Bodyguard, for added petrolhead points.

But why – and I'm not sure if anyone at BMW's headquarters in Munich gets The Champion delivered – did they have to give the latest version that massively oversized radiator grille?

BMW itself describes it as 'significantly larger' than the double-kidney grille fronting the outgoing 7-Series, and points out that it's now fitted with clever electronic flaps that can open up to give the engine – be it the V12 or, far more likely, the six-pot diesel – an extra hit of cold air when things heat up.

It just about worked on the new X7 off-roader but on here it looks as though someone at BMW spent ages crafting a beautiful radiator grille, phoned over the details to the chaps working on the rest of the car but then got cut off just as he was about to relay over the dimensions.

So it's a definite nein on the front end but I'll happily have the rest of it.

While I'm tempted to say the range-topping M760Li is the coolest of the only truly cool car BMW currently makes, simply because no one really needs to have four-wheel-drive and a 6.6-litre V12 with 585bhp, I think the one to go for is the 745e.

That's the model where you'll get a petrol-powered straight six – the sort of engine Munich does better than anyone else – and a hybrid electric powerplant, so you can enjoy beautifully balanced BMW handling and glide happily into low emissions areas because you've got a hybrid.

You'll just have to hope that nobody's looking at that front-end, that's all.

Volkswagen's 10,000 all-electric orders

A car firm has been swamped with more than 10,000 orders for the first of what it says will be a new family of all-electric cars.

The ID.3 is designed to take on models like BMW's i3 and will have a 251-mile range, and is expected to cost around £30,000 when it arrives here next year.

While the ID.3 is a five-door hatchback similar in size to the Golf, VW has said that other electric models slotting in both above and below are due in the near future.

Skelmersdale beaten after good start at New Victoria

SKEMERSDALE travelled to New Victoria on Saturday and Joe Till elected to bat first.

Skem got off to a good start as Harry Marston and Matty Wright dominated the opening bowlers. before Wright, was caught at mid-off.

A collapse followed, with Till, Chris Tromp and Jonas Smith falling in quick succession.

When Marston was adjudged LBW for 23, Andre Hughes counter attacked hitting two explosive straight fours. After he was stumped Ian Girvin and Kam Sohail looked to rebuild.

They were both dismissed after they reached their 20 partnership, the pitch not doing them any favours. Resistance from Steven and Alex Martlew on their 1st XI debuts, and James Salah helped Skem to 97 all out, a total that looked difficult to defend on this pitch.

Despite quick bowling from Smith and Hughes, and a phenomenal caught and bowled by the latter, New Victoria chased down Skem's total in less than 20 overs.

Skelmersdale women's team played their first competitive matches on Sunday at Maghull. Despite unable to find a win in the three games they played, there were some valuable contributions. For a squad that was only formed four weeks ago, they showed promise against some strong opponents.

Dalton lose in thriller to Winstanley Park

DALTON were put into bat against Winstanley Park and again lost an opener early, this time Matt Charman falling in the second over of the game.

Dalton found themselves 45-3 at drinks. Numaan and Jones then started to look comfortable at the crease before a Dalton collapse.

This collapse saw Dalton go from 60-3 to 70-8 and looked in serious trouble. With Jones (44*) still there and Davies coming out to bat Dalton managed to finish on 108 all out with Jones finishing again just shy of his 50 for the third successive game.

Dalton bowled tight as usual and continued to take wickets throughout the game which started to give them a chance of winning the game.

Due to losing John Stockley to a nasty head injury for 10 overs, Winstanley Park started to find some gaps in the field to pick away at the low score.

Dalton showed spirit and belief throughout the game but dropping a couple of catches and missing what seemed a straightforward run out meant they fell just short with Winstanley Park hitting the winning runs in the last over whilst 9 wickets down.

Hares picked up 3 wickets with Bain and Stockley getting 2 a piece.

Bohannon blasts 128 as Ormskirk hammer Bootle in trophy tie

JOSH Bohannon scored an excellent 128 not out from 141 deliveries as he put the Bootle bowling attack to the sword in a huge win for Ormskirk in their Ray Digman Trophy tie on Saturday.

Bohannon was ably assisted by George Lavelle, with 68 from 70 balls, and Alex Rankin, unbeaten on 39 from 26 balls, in very productive second wicket stands of 125 and 89 as Ormskirk amassed a very healthy 267 for 3 from their allocated 45 overs.

In Firwood Bootle's response only four batsmen Will Hale, Neil Williams, Sam Kershaw and Scott Butterworth reached double figures as they were removed for a modest 86 after 26 overs as Ormskirk sealed a massive 181 run win.

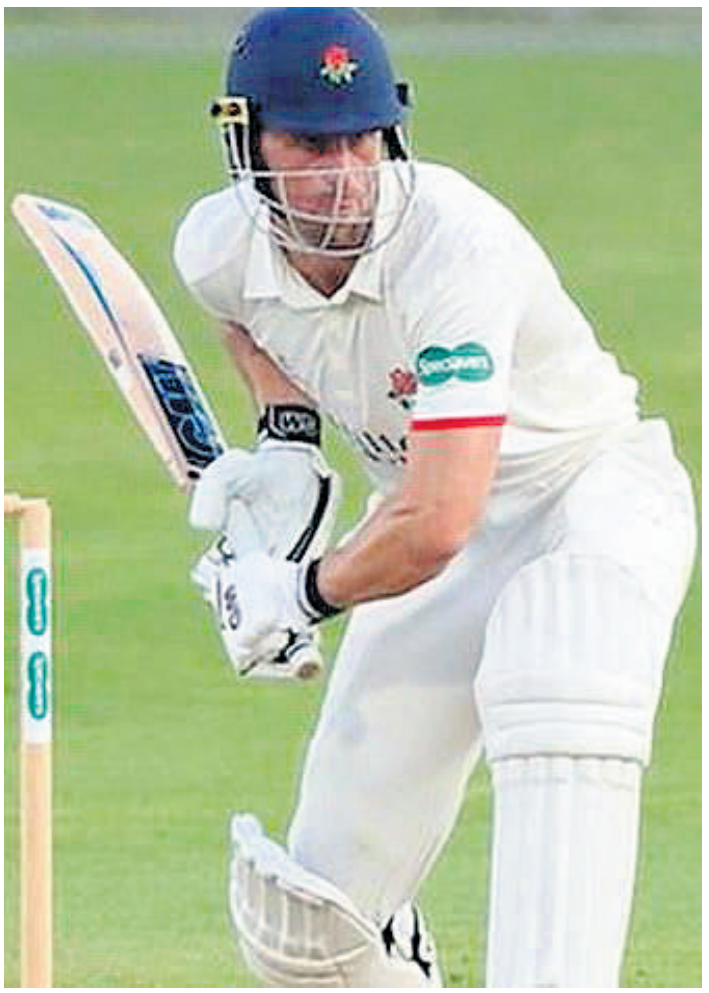
Tom Hartley claimed three wickets without conceding a run while Bohannon took 3 for 9 to complete a fine all round performance.

Elsewhere in the Ray Digman Trophy, Ainsdale beat Sefton Park by 68 runs at the Ainsdale club, the hosts made 201-9 off their 45 overs with Mark Lucas 59 and Connor Windell 47 top scoring, whilst Tim Young took 4-41. In reply, Sefton were dismissed for 133 with the wickets shared between all five bowlers.

Formby beat Leigh by seven wickets, Finnegan Hulbert 48 top scored for Leigh who were dismissed for 200, with skipper Elliot Ketteringham claiming 4-39 and Ollie Sutton 3-30. In reply, Sutton top scored with 78, James Seward hit 52 and Sam Oldham an unbeaten 20* as Formby eased to victory in the 32nd over on 202-3.

Southport & Birkdale lost by six wickets to Colwyn Bay, Will Affleck 42, Tom Baybutt 32 and Chris Cunningham 30* took S&B to 171-8, before Adam Campion 57 laid the foundation for the Welshmen who eased to victory in the 29th over on 172-4.

THIS weekend's local LDCC fixtures (1pm): Bootle v Colwyn Bay, Formby v Lytham, Ormskirk v Northern, Rainhill v Southport & Birkdale, Ainsdale v Old Xaverians, Fleetwood Hesketh v Wigan, Alder v Burscough, Hightown St Mary's v Southport Trinity and Spring View v Maghull.



Josh Bohannon.

Local boy Nash triumphs in the Henriques Trophy

LOCAL boy James Nash, a member at Ormskirk Golf Club beat a field of 68 to win the Henriques Trophy recently at Hesketh Golf Club.

The competition was a 36 hole scratch event, and James won with a scores of 71 and 72 for a one under par total.

The 19-year- old is a student at Stirling University and this is his first win on the Northern Order of Merit.

James is coached by Simon Edwards who is also coach to David Shacklady who recently won the Senior Russian Open.

Berrie half century not enough to save Burscough from defeat in cup

IN the Ray Tyler Cup, Burscough lost at home by six wickets against Newton le Willows.

Lee Berrie with 55 was the only Burscough batsman to reach double figures as they were dismissed for 107, with Sam Guest 3-13 and Nathan Hughes 3-29 shining with the ball.

In reply, the visitors recovered from 14-3 to wrap up victory on 111-4 with Rameez Alam unbeaten on 39*.

Maghull had a four wicket home win against Spring View, Lewis Matthews top scored with 44 as the visitors were bowled out for 122, with young Australian Joe Medew-Ewen taking 5-28. In reply, Joe Campbell hit an unbeaten 29* as the hosts eased to 124-6 in the 31st over to wrap up victory.

Hightown St Mary's lost by two wickets to Old Xaverians at Sandy Lane, the hosts managed to put 160-8 together thanks in no small part to Jayden Schadendorf 36, Wade Williams 32 and Joel Barlow 23, whilst Josh Dilworth took 4-31 with the ball. In reply, the visitors sealed victory in the 44th over on 161-8.

A first West Lancs derby for six years

WEST Lancashire's senior non-league football teams will face each other next season, but they will also play teams they have never played before as they go head to head in the North-West Counties Premier Division, writes Neil Leatherbarrow.

All was revealed this week when the FA announced the makeup of the various league's in England for next season.

Skelmersdale United were relegated from Evo-Stik Division One West at the end of last season so all opponents will be new to them.

In Burscough's case there will still be some places that they haven't been to for a league game.

The four new teams from last season for Burscough supporters will be Skelmersdale United, Longridge Town, Rylands and Avro.

Skelmersdale will face a number of clubs for the very first time in a league game, Runcorn Town, Whitchurch Alport, 1874 Northwich, Charnock Richard, Litherland Remyca and a Barnoldswick Town, this as well as Rylands, Avro and Longridge.

The fixtures will not be released by the North-West Counties League until around late June – early July, but there are a number of mouth watering derby games to come, with one really much anticipated West Lancashire league derby that last took place in January 2013.
